AMERICAN AIRLINES TO RESUME PHL AND DCA FLIGHTS FROM CRW IN JULY

Starting July 7th, American Airlines will resume non-stop flights from Yeager Airport (CRW) to Philadelphia International Airport (PHL) and Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport (DCA). American Airlines paused these two routes earlier this year due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

“This is an important step to get the ball rolling again,” said Yeager Airport Director Nick Keller. “We are happy to see the demand is there for American to bring these flights back to CRW.”

When booking your flights, please review COVID-19 airline guidelines. Visit yeagerairport.com for additional COVID-19 guidance and notices.
