Starting February 11th, Spirit Airlines will resume nonstop service from Yeager Airport (CRW) to Orlando International Airport (MCO). The service, which started in February of 2020, has been temporarily paused since the end of last year because of the coronavirus pandemic.

“We have worked tirelessly to make Yeager Airport safe for our passengers,” said Yeager Airport Director and CEO Nick Keller. “We are excited to safely start this service again. Orlando is a great destination to offer our passengers.”

The flight to Orlando International Airport (MCO), is offered three days a week, Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday. The Spirit ticket counter at Yeager Airport will be open on Wednesday’s and Friday’s starting January 20th from 12-4 PM. The airline will operate the flight on Airbus 319 or 320 aircraft.

“We are excited to resume our flights between Charleston and Orlando, offering our Guests competitive fares as well as a convenient way to get to Central Florida,” said John Kirby, Vice President of Network Planning at Spirit Airlines.

Spirit Airlines Guest Safety

Spirit’s commitment to Safe Travels includes a multi-layered safety approach that requires all Guests and Team Members to wear face coverings. Each passenger agrees to that policy as part of a health and safety acknowledgement prior to boarding the aircraft. Every plane in our Fit Fleet® uses state-of-the-art, high-efficiency particulate air (HEPA) filters that capture 99.97% of particles and filter the air for contaminants every 3 minutes.

Between each flight, enhanced cleaning procedures focus on high-touch areas such as tray tables and armrests using hospital-grade disinfectants. Spirit also uses two EPA-registered fogging treatments. The first applies a safe, high-grade disinfectant that’s effective against coronaviruses.

The second uses an antimicrobial product that forms an invisible barrier on all surfaces that kills bacteria and viruses on contact for 30 days. Please visit Spirit's COVID-19 Information Center for more information on safety enhancements.
